

Metal Clay Classes at Moonlite Creations Studio & Gallery

101 W 6th Street at Steinfeld Warehouse, Studio N

*Classes are small and limited to 8 students per 3 hr session.

Classes are arranged so you learn about metal clay but the product you create is up to you. Novice to advance techniques are taught, building on each skill at your own pace. Because classes are structure to learn techniques and not product driven, attending classes is flexible for everyone's busy schedules.

Classes are arranged by the types of metal on a particular day. Payment for classes is structured into six -3 hour session for a fee of $125. Your attendance is flexible- How you do that is up to you. Attend a 3 hr. session every week or create a schedule to meet your needs. You begin when you want and complete the six -3hr sessions by your attendance. Changing the class structure from a fixed weekly schedule in which most classes are given, enables flexibility to the student. Your progression in using metal clay will dictate how many six-3hr sessions you sign up for.

Tools and material are a separate cost. Payment for class guarantees your seat. We accept check, cash or charge. Firing is included in class fee and done off premise, there is no limit on number of items as long you are attending class.
